INTRODUCTION

Who am I.

I'm 31 and I'm a full-stack web developer based in France (Tarn, Castres). I'm specialized in Laravel PHP framework (for the back-end) and Vue.js Javascript framework (for the front-end).

My passion for web development pushes me to give the best of myself for each project, and to improve my knowledge in the field of web technologies keeping me regularly informed of the latest innovations.

Since I was young, I'm interested in computers, and more generally in technologies. At 16, I started to learn web development, which has quickly grown into a passion. That's why I decided to make it my full time job after working several years for IT companies.

EXPERTISE
